When employees are allowed or assigned to work for UCF or any of UCF’s direct support organizations from a jurisdiction other than Florida, such as another state or another country, the possibility exists that additional taxes, expenses, and liabilities may be incurred as a result of the work being performed in a different legal jurisdiction. These liabilities could include: payroll taxes to the non-Florida jurisdiction, unemployment compensation or workers compensation obligations in the different jurisdiction, additional employee benefits or insurance requirements, registration fees, etc. This should not be construed as an all-inclusive list of liabilities. The University is unable to provide definitive predictions on these potentialities, as each foreign and non-Florida jurisdiction has different rules and different enforcement mechanisms.

By agreeing to the employment arrangement outside of Florida, I acknowledge that the employing department will be responsible for any and all additional taxes, expenses, or liabilities that might be charged to UCF as a result of such arrangement.
