What is an USPS position?
University Support Personnel Services (USPS) positions are career service jobs where terms and conditions are generally recognized through collective bargaining agreements and/or state statute. Certain benefits, amount of leave, and notification of termination are exclusive to the pay plan. University Support Personnel System (USPS) employees earn regular status in the USPS after successful completion of a designated probationary period. Regular status in a “class” is earned after successful completion of the designated probationary period in the USPS classification. Regular status does not relate to funding of positions. All positions not funded from Education and General (E&G) funds are considered soft money/time limited.

What is an OPS position?
Other Personnel Services positions are a temporary employer/employee relationship typically used for the completion of short-term, temporary, or intermittent tasks, and for a short-term or temporary need. These are “at will” positions that do not require notice periods for separation. Other Personnel Services positions do not qualify for paid holidays, leave or other benefits. Certain OPS positions may qualify for insurance benefits depending on hours and a measurement period. Please ask the Benefits Department in Human Resources for your status.

What is an A&P position?
Administrative and Professional and A&P (A&P) positions are considered contractual. Terms and conditions are generally recognized by contract for a specific period or contracts renewed on an annual basis. Certain benefits, amount of leave, and notification of termination are exclusive to the pay plan. There is no probationary period.

Yes, when you are login into the applicant site, you can update your profile information by clicking on the Edit Profile tab on the top right-hand side of the home screen.

What do I do if I want to edit my application or change my documents?
Applications and application materials are not editable after they have been submitted, so you will need to withdraw your application and reapply with updated materials. If applications are still being accepted for the position, you may log in to the applicant portal by clicking “Log In”, then click the “Withdraw” button next to the application you’d like to withdraw. Then reapply with updated materials. Your previous application and materials will not be saved, so you will need to complete all parts of the application again. Updates to application materials are not accepted after an application deadline has passed.

What is the average time between a position closes and when interviews begin?
The time frame varies greatly and is based on numerous factors such as the volume of applicants, the department’s schedule, the need for the job etc. Unfortunately, because of the numerous variables it is impossible to gauge how long the hiring process will take. We recommend checking the status periodically for any updates to the requisition. You can check the status of your application by logging in to the applicant portal by clicking “Log In” and entering your e-mail address and password. Then, you can check the “Current Status” listed under the job information under your application.

What do the terms “time limited” and visiting mean on postings?
Time limited and visiting positions are based on circumstances, such as funding sources, which control the length of time for which the position is available. Time limited and visiting positions have the same rights as a position with a regular appointment modifier, except such position does not have rights provided for layoff and/or recall.
